Program Minutes Nov 18, 2023

Our final 2023 BCGS meeting was on Saturday, Nov 18 at 10 am at the Atterbury-Bakalar Air Museum. Eleven (9 members & 2 guests) gathered in the William "BRUCE" Dalton Media Center for our annual meeting and program. After Becky Speaker welcomed all, we held the election of officers. Bob Hobbs, Membership Chair, shared the following slate for 2024: Becky Speaker, President, Linda Glick, V-P, Marcus Speer, Secretary, & Toni Rogers Whiteside, Treasurer. By a voice vote, all officers were elected.

After the election of officers, David Day, volunteer at the Atterbury-Bakalar Air Museum, provided an informative presentation about the Air base and the museum. David also shared the Genealogy Connection with the follow bullet points: artifacts displayed, documents preserved, scanned materials shared, photographs viewable, biographies available, and database catalogued.

After a presentation, we toured the museum, which tells the story of the people who served at the air base and so much more. If you are interested in supporting the Air Museum, consider buying a brick or becoming a member! The bricks are along the pathway near the C-119 plane, restored by volunteers over the last 4 years.

If you would like to view the entire November meeting (including the election of officers), please check out the video on our BCGS Facebook page:

Program Minutes October 28, 2023

For our October 28th SKILLS, BCGS members visited the Yellow Trail Research Center at the museum in Hope. Our own Kim Ray led the program for 11 members (2 came as guests and became members!). Kim shared that the Research Center is under the umbrella of the Yellow Trail Museum and was created after the acquisition of the adjacent building in 2016. Initially, located in a back room, the center opened to the public a year later in June 2017. The materials that had been stored away over 40 years finally had become a collection that researchers could view. Following the Covid shutdown, the research center reopened in its new building in April of 2022.

The design of the new Research Center reflects three priorities: one third of the building is for public space; one third is for staff space; and one third is for storage space. This allows ample space for researching materials, cataloguing the museum's collection, and for the proper storage of artifacts and other materials. What materials can be discovered in the Research Center? There is information about churches (mostly those that no longer exist), stories about local schools, family histories, collections of materials about nearby towns, businesses, and organizations, and maps too!

The Research Center closes in the winter and opens in the spring on the museum's timing. Museum is open Mon & Wed from 10-2 or by appointment. The Center is located at the 4th set of doors south of the Main entrance to the Museum on the NW Corner of the Hope Town Square. Many thanks for all the hard work at the Yellow Trail Museum and Research center!

Guided Tours of Local Cemeteries

-by Annette Blount

The Bartholomew County Public Library held its second annual City Cemetery Tour, October 16th, from 6:00-7:00. The genealogical society was well represented at the cemetery by Donna Kuhlman. Our Friends of the Library group also served warm apple cider. We don't have an official count but we estimated approximately 125 people attended this library event.

Several library staff were there to tell the story of families buried in the cemetery. Library director, Jason Hatton, spoke about the

John and Emeline Drake family. Valerie Baute spoke about the Donner family. Tricia Gilson spoke about Michael and Elizabeth Wolf and family. Kate Grafelman spoke about the Johnson family. Dakota Hall spoke the Schuyler family. Sandy Allman spoke about Parmelia Morris. Missy Henderson spoke about Lucy Arnold. Margaret Pflueger spoke about Kasper Pfeifer and his family. Hannah Grimm spoke about John Henry Kaiser. Lindsey Bailey spoke about the Roesgen family. Erica McFarland spoke about the one individual who did not have a stone in the cemetery, Willis Boyd. I spoke about William and Matilda Geilker and family.

We had a really nice night for our tour. The air was a little bit chilly but not nearly as cold as last year. I think the staff enjoys this event about as much as patrons do. Even after Kate and I make the research available to staff they go ahead and do more research on the person they choose.

There are a few names we researched that we did not use so we have a headstart for next year's tour.

A week after the City Cemetery Tour we held our first Hope Moravian Church Cemetery Tour. Shelly Bishop, who works with Dave Miller, at the Hope Branch Library did most of the research and chose the people we would talk about at Hope. The library staff and people they spoke about were: Dave Miller spoke about Edwin T. Senseman, Dakota Hall spoke about William Lewellen Albright, Annette Blount spoke about Johann Daniel Ziegler, Missy Henderson spoke about John Henry Kluge, Tyler Munn spoke about James E. Arbuckle, Kate Grafelman spoke about Berthold Menke, Valerie Baute spoke about Joseph Bachman and Jessica Deckard, who is not library staff but a Hope resident, spoke about Flavie Myrtle Knotts. Erica McFarland handled the cider table.

For the first year of the tour we estimated about 55 people attended. That is a pretty good turnout. We plan to have another tour there next year.

At the Hope Moravian Church Cemetery tour I met the church organist who had the same last name as the person I was speaking about. I also met some ladies that were descendants of the person I was speaking about.

At City Cemetery the Geilker family that I spoke about is connected to my own family. Matilda Burkhart Geilker was a sister to my Great Great Grandmother, Catherine Burkhart Seitz.

It is always fun when the stories have a personal touch.

THE ANCESTRY OF A HOUSE Part IV

When I started writing about the then 81-year-old house I bought in the summer of 2022, I did not know where my research would take me. In Part I of what has become a four-part series, I wrote mainly about the structure of the house itself and the history of the neighborhood in which it was built. At the end of that part, I introduced you to the first family, the four members of the Harry A. Williams family, who occupied it while newly built in 1941. Little did I know what stories I would uncover about them! So much so, it took over Parts II and III. This was largely due to the mysterious death of the son, a case which technically remains to this day as an unsolved crime. While there are descendants of the four still in the area, all four of the members of this once quite prominent Columbus family are now deceased. This Part IV will focus on the second family to reside at 2004 21st Street with references to the Williams' due to the connection of the two families, which is something I have hinted at previously.

THE THOMPSON FAMILY

MORRIS EUGENE THOMPSON

Morris Eugene Thompson, later known as "Jiggs," was born the 2nd of July 1923 in Rock Creek Township, Bartholomew County, Indiana. His family later moved to the Columbus city limits where he attended Columbus High School. A photo I saw of him in a group photo of his class in his yearbook, I notice he and a couple other boys wore sweaters with a center large, round patch design and looked like long, dark objects being crossed in the center of that circle. My first thought was that these objects were oars, but with further investigation they were actually rifles. In another group yearbook photo, I saw that he and a group of other boys, all dressed in the same sweater, were identified as members of The Columbus High School Rifle Club. Formed in 1934, membership was limited to 35 boys, and its purpose was to teach proper care of the rifle and to improve marksmanship. The group met every Friday after school at the Armory for target practice. According to the yearbook, the club "tends to develop a sense of fair play and sparks sportsmanship among the boys." Morris graduated from Columbus High School in 1941 at the age of 17.

On 30 June 1942, Morris registered for the draft. He was listed as 18 years old, 5'6.5", 125 lbs., a light complexion, with brown hair and blue eyes. His place of employment was Noblitt Sparks, Inc. In 1950, the company changed its name to Arvin Industries. The company made, among other things, radios and small appliances. This work experience would come in handy later.

While living at 1491 Lawton Avenue, he entered the service as an enlistee on the 8th of December, 1942 in the U.S. Navy, getting in just under the enlistment ban deadline. He served in the Pacific, stationed at Pearl Harbor, and was discharged on the 20th of November 1945.

BETTY KATHRYN COOK

Betty Kathryn Cook was born on the 8th of October 1927 to Glenn and Nora Phelps Cook on a farm in the Edinburgh/ Taylorsville area of Bartholomew County, Indiana. She too graduated from Columbus High School.

THE MARRIAGE OF BETTY AND JIGGS AND THE WILLIAMS/THOMPSON CONNECTIONS

Betty and Jiggs were engaged in August of 1946 and were married on the 4th of January 1947 in a close family only ceremony at the home of the Presbyterian minister. She was 20 years old and worked at Noblitt Sparks Industries, his employer before the war. He was now a salesman for H. A. Williams Company, a three-store appliance retail chain. Their first home was at 505 10th Street in Columbus.

The Williams family out-grew the house at 2004 21st Street and moved to a larger stone ranch-style house at 2555 Washington Street in 1955. Betty and Jiggs, who now resided at 1104 Lafayette Avenue and was still a salesman at Harry A. Williams' local Columbus store, bought the house and moved in soon thereafter.

THE BIRTHS OF KEVIN AND KERRY THOMPSON

By the time the Thompson's moved into the house, the family include a son, Kevin Eugene, born the previous year, 1954, on Saturday, the 24th of April, one week earlier than my sister was born in Illinois. A second son, Kerry Reed, was born on Wednesday, the 16th of May, 1956, almost exactly four years after I was born. Like the Williams family before them, the Thompson parents took the front bedroom with two closets, and the two children again shared the bedroom in the back of the house with just the one closet.

The Senior Photos of Kevin and Kerry Thompson, both at 18 years of age in 1972 and 1974

Both boys went to Northside Junior High School and Columbus High School. Kevin played baseball and ran track. Kerry, while at Northside in 1971, was on the swim team and was one of six boys who participated with the Columbus High School golf team.

In 1973, Columbus High School became Columbus North High School. Kevin graduated in the Class of '72 and Kerry graduated in the Class of '74.

Kevin, an amateur photographer in the summer of 1976, won 1st place in a photography contest in the children's color slide division and 3rd place in another category. Both photos appeared in the local newspaper. When Kevin went away to college, Kerry apparently took over the bedroom as his own and so when Kevin would return home, he slept in the breezeway between the house and the garage which had been enclosed. While Kevin eventually moved to Ohio after college, Kerry never lived anywhere else until 2020.

THE DEATH OF BETTY THOMPSON

According to her obituary in The Republic published on Tuesday, October 29th 1991, Betty Kathryn Cook Thompson died at 6:24 AM on Monday, October 28th at the Bartholomew County Hospital emergency room. My neighbor, who has lived across the street since 1977, told me she had collapsed and died in the bathroom. So what is correct? More on this later. At the time of her death she was serving her 21st year as the department head at Bartholomew County Veterans Survivor Services. Her funeral was at the First Presbyterian Church where she was a member, with burial at Garland Brook Cemetery. According to her death certificate she died of cardiac arrhythmia. She was 64 years old.

THE DEATH OF MORRIS "JIGGS" THOMPSON

After Betty died in 1991, Jiggs and Kerry continued to live in the house. By then Jiggs had retired from working at H.A. Williams since 1985, having worked there for 40 years since he was discharged from the navy. While there he had experienced the death of his employer and friend Harry Allison Williams in 1964. When his widow Cleo and their son John took over the running of the company, Jiggs was also there as an employee when John was found dead in a ditch in 1964. Soon the Williams daughter Janet would step in and help run the company with her mother. Jiggs was there for all of it until his retirement. Needless to say, his constant service to the company was instrumental to the effective operations of the sales force during some profoundly difficult times. He also later served for 22 years as Bartholomew County's Veterans Affairs officer.

Tripping Over My Roots

-by Bob Hobbs

In fact, he was a prime example of what it looks like to serve a community. As a long-time member of The Presbyterian Church, he was a deacon and an elder. He was a member and past president of The Golden K Kiwanis Club, a former member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows No. 58, an official member of the Bleacher Bums, a #1 fan of Columbus North basketball, a volunteer of the Parks and Recreation Department, Love Chapel, Meals on Wheels, and Big Brothers and Big Sisters.

When I read he was a “River Rat,” I had to Google it to find out just what that was! According to Dan Fox in a 2015 article in The Republic, it seems he was in a group of men and women who, beginning in the early 1960s, spent many hours cleaning up and raising money and community awareness for what would later become the improved and expanded Mill Race Park. They were honored in the 1990s by having their names placed on plaques and affixed to benches along a pathway along the river in the park. Unfortunately due to years of flooding many of the benches have been replaced, but not the plaques.

If that weren't enough, through his involvement with the American Red Cross Blood drives, he had donated 22 gallons of blood since 1945. It is no surprise to me that he was Senior Citizen of the Year in 1995. It is apparent to me why he got the nickname Jiggs....the man was never still!

However death has a way of bringing stillness. Morris Eugene “Jiggs” Thompson passed away on the 18th of April, 2006 in the Hospice of South-Central Indiana at the age of 82. His death certificate lists the cause of death as “renal failure due to or by consequence of dementia.”

Among the other survivors, Kevin Thompson of Lebanon, Ohio and Kerry Thompson of Columbus are listed. Jiggs was buried next to his wife Betty in Garland Brook Cemetery.

The graves of Betty and Morris Thompson

AFTERWARD

After the death of his father, Kerry lived alone in the house. He had no other choice than to use the bathroom where his mother had collapsed and died. He reportedly would no longer enter his parent's bedroom, where I now sit at my desk typing this. Instead he would partially open the door and throw discarded items into it. Over the years the items built up causing damage to the walls. Years of clutter filled the basement and when I Googled the address I see three different years of photos of a blue, compact Chevrolet parked in the driveway. I later had my suspicions verified: The car had to be parked in the driveway because there was no room for it in the garage.

As the years passed, Kerry needed extra help managing living alone and the neighbor who I have referred to in this series stepped up and became his caregiver. When this no longer was a viable option, Kerry went to live in an assisted-living facility a few miles north of the house, which was the same place his father lived prior to going into hospice care. When Kerry left in 2020, he had lived in the house for almost 65 years. He still lives in the assisted-living facility on Central Avenue in Columbus.

Kevin attended Ball State University and continues to live with his family in Lebanon, Ohio. At 69 and now retired, he was a salesman like his father.

The house got new vinyl siding and a new roof plus other outside improvements prior to being sold to Turnkey Solutions, Inc. They then renovated the interior by clearing out the parent's bedroom, the basement, and the garage of years of clutter. They replaced the drywall and repainted each room. All flooring was replaced, and new light fixtures were added. The bathroom was refurbished, and the kitchen was completely remodeled, replacing the 1970s avocado green appliances with stainless steel, and outdated varnished cabinets with white Quaker-style ones. Features of the house that offered character were retained.

After I saw the house I fell in love with it. It being 81 years old at the time, I paid to have an inspection so I would know what I was getting myself in to. It was the best $400.00 I ever spent. To the credit of Turnkey Solutions, they fixed my more major concerns. Other minor ones, I knew I could remedy myself. I became only the 3rd "family" to live in the house since it was built in 1941.

THE PHENOMINOM OF THE BATHROOM

The one issue I have with the design of the house is that the one bathroom is rather small. It does have built-in storage that I appreciate, and I am VERY sure the two families of four who proceeded solo occupant me did as well. However, it infringes on the ability to move around very much. I joked that a person could sit on the toilet, put their feet in the bathtub, and wash their hands in the sink all at the same time! I wondered, perhaps morbidly so, how Mrs. Thompson, who was reportedly a big-boned woman of German stock, was able to be fatally stricken in there and managed to fall to the floor. An even bigger mystery looms as to whether she actually expired in the emergency room of the nearby hospital according to the death certificate OR was it like the case of my grandfather who collapsed in a bedroom while visiting my aunt and uncle. My uncle swears he had died prior to be taken by ambulance to the hospital where it was documented he actually died. In cases such as these I wonder: Do they delay announcing the death to spare the feelings of the families, who remain occupants of the house? I guess we will never know for sure.

At any rate, the renovation of the bathroom included a sensor that causes the light and ceiling fan to go on when it detects you entering the room. It also automatically goes off when it does not detect any movement. I had not been moved in very long at all when, while in another part of the house, the light and fan would suddenly come on! I tried to justify it by thinking this occurred when the breeze created when the air conditioner or heater coming on perhaps moved the shower curtain thereby tripping the sensor. When I paid closer attention, I dismissed that theory because it would happen when the air conditioner or heater were turned off. It happens at various times, but it happens most often at 8:30 or 9:30 PM, depending on whether or not it is during Daylight Savings Time. I have gotten so I just go with it even to the point where I will say, "Hi Mrs. Thompson!" or after it happens multiple times in a row, I will say something like "Ok, Mrs. Thompson! You can go now. Good night!" If a spirit is causing this, it is not malicious. There are no eerie sounds. Nothing gets moved or goes flying through the air! It doesn't happen as often as it once did. Perhaps she was just checking me out and wondering why a stranger was living in her house. Perhaps she can tell I treat the house with respect and she likes what I've done with the place.

Whatever the reason, it doesn't really bother me....yet!

If you live in an older house, I encourage you to re-search it and those who lived in it before you. The ancestry of a house very much involves the history of the people who once lived in it. You will learn to appreciate and be grateful for your home even more. You'll also always have something interesting to talk about when you host a party!
